

Camfil APC has a fleet of mobile dust collection systems that are traveling the country to provide training and education to customers. The trailer-mounted units are available for on-site demonstrations of the Farr Gold Series. We're convinced that when you see the Farr Gold Series in person, experience how easy it is to change out the filters and feel how heavy duty the construction is, you'll agree that Camfil APC is the right choice.

The FGS trailer units may be used for dust collection seminars or for more informal training on the basic principles of dust collector design, selection and operation. They are also being used at professional meetings, trade shows and Learn-Over-Lunch events.

We currently have 50+ mobile units traveling the country for programs that we conduct along with our network of representatives and distributors. Each unit is equipped with a high efficiency Farr Gold Series dust collector. This Farr Gold Series is widely used for removal of fine dust and fumes from countless manufacturing processes. It is equipped with the award-winning HemiPleat® filter, which delivers lower pressure drop than standard cartridge filters for extended service life and energy savings.

"Our traveling units provide a 'hands-on' way to educate customers on the basics of dust collection and remove guesswork from the equation."
